Hanchett running for Shiawassee Register of Deeds

Tom Hanchett, 55, of rural Corunna, announces he is a Republican candidate for Shiawassee County Register of Deeds. A life-long resident of Shiawassee County, he is currently drain maintenance coordinator in the county drain office.

Republican Kaye Grubba is retiring after 16 years on the job. Besides Hanchett, also in the running are Republicans Lori Kimble of Owosso and Debbie Leslie of Corunna and Democrat Joy Ebenhoeh of New Lothrop.

Hanchett is a 1966 graduate of Corunna High School and graduated from Ferris State University in 1969.

As a youth, he was a member of 4-H and currently is a member of the Farm Bureau and the National Rifle Association. He grew up on a family farm in Venice Township and worked there through high school and college. Following graduation from Ferris and for more than 20 years, he was self-employed in an autobody repair and refinishing business while continuing to operate a cash crop farm.

He has worked in the Shiawassee County Drain office for six years in a job that includes meeting with landowners and contractors, taking bids on drain work and assigning this work to contractors. He also meets with neighboring county drain commissioners to set up work on drains that flow in or out of adjacent counties.

He lives in Hazelton Township with his wife, Barbara. They have two grown children, Charles and Michelle, and two grandsons.

In a statement of his candidacy, he comments, "My experience as drain maintenance coordinator has enabled me to meet many wonderful people and to make many new friends. At the same time, I was provided the opportunity to practice problem solving, a skill so necessary in today's world.

"I believe county offices should be run like a business, by not spending money unnecessarily, and when making purchases, getting the best price available. I am also a firm believer in buying within the county whenever possible. Business owners and households must spend their money wisely today as should county offices.

"When elected, I pledge to do my best to provide the excellent service to the taxpayers and customers of this office as has the current Register of Deeds. When elected, I do not plan to make any changes in staff as they are all knowledgeable, dependable and hard-working individuals.

"When elected, my office door will always be open to the taxpayers of this county with questions or comments regarding this office."

Many know Jim Hilgendorf as the superintendent of Johannesburg-Lewiston High School. Some know him as a teacher, some as a coach, or simply as a friend. But that doesn't tell the whole story. Not anymore. One line that can now be added to Hilgendorf's impressive resume reads: Hall of Fame Football Coach. After 26 years of coaching prep football at Rapid River and at Johannesburg-Lewiston, Hilgendorf is being honored with induction into the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association (MHSFCA) Hall of Fame on April 16th, 2005.
