William E. Jones

Was welcomed home by his Lord and Creator on Monday, May 29, 2006.

In faith he was cheered on by his loving soulmate, Sharon Guidry; his children, William C. "Billy" Jones (fiancee' Shannon Sherwood), Sarah (Jeff) Hankinson and extended children, Denise Hettinger, Diana Nartker (Kirk Grzelka), Jimmie Guildry (Laurie Wright) and Dawn Caruso.

PaPa Bill's "new job" will be to watch over his grandchildren Hannah and Tyler Hankinson and Leira Caruso, who so dearly loved his playful, child-like spirit and gentle nature.

The son of Richard and Hazel Jones (deceased), Bill was born on July 24, 1951. His brothers and sisters, Dick (Janet) Jones, Dave (Kathy) Jones, Theresa (Mark) Stenning and Merrie (John) Hoeger, along with nieces and nephews, also survive him.

Bill graduated from Corunna High School and received his master's degree in engineering. He was employed by Bar Tech and served as senior engineer at Delphi-Chassis of Saginaw. He was a 32nd Degree member of the Owosso Masonic Lodge 81 and the Lodge Council Chapter Consistory of the Scottish Rite Bodies, Academy of Model Aeronautics, the Durand Lions Club, the JAG Hunting Ranch and Flint Aero R/C Club.

Bill loved to spend his free time with his family and made every gathering a true celebration of life and love, whether it was riding motorcycles or ATV's, flying model airplanes, taking the "Vette" out for an afternoon drive, catching a NASCAR race, fishing at the cottage or hunting at the ranch.

His love of life and compassionate nature led him to donate his time and talents to several organizations as an expert videographer. Through his eyes, soul and sense of humor, memories were captured that will forever touch our lives and hearts.

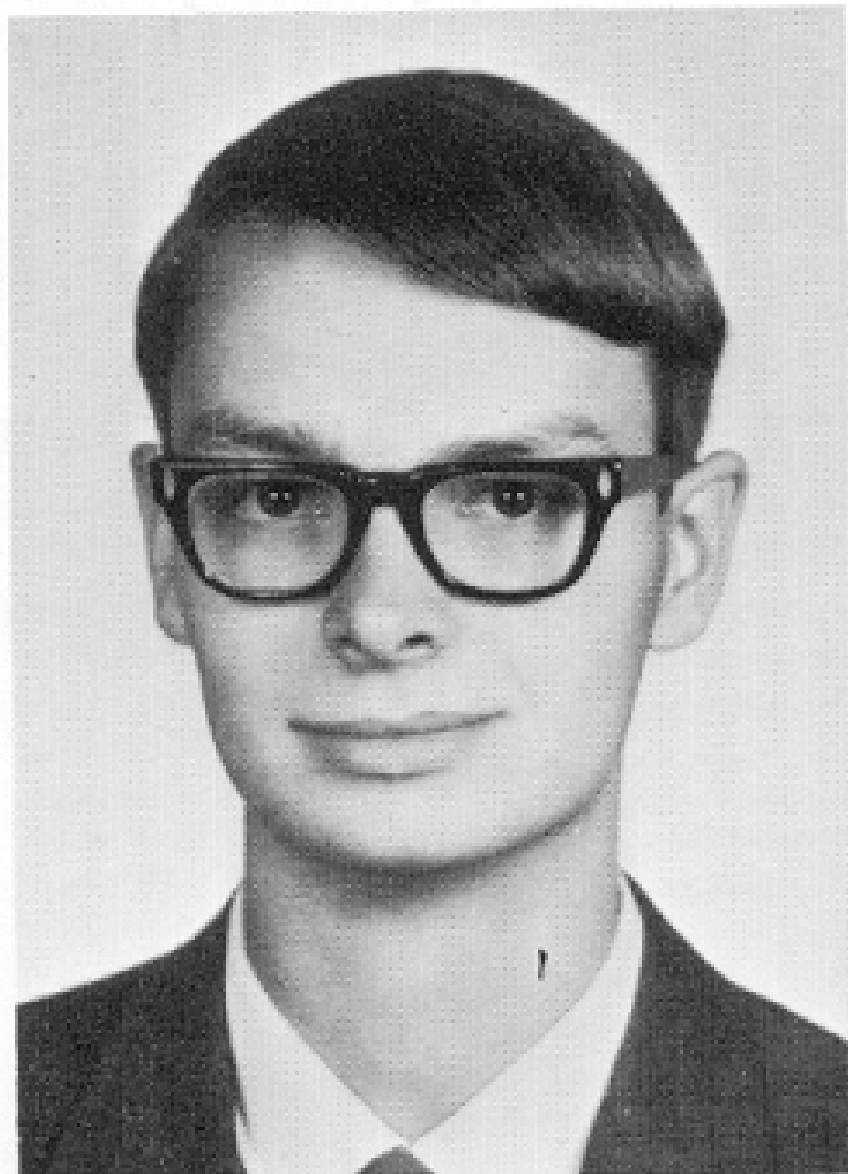

The family will receive visitors at Watkins Brothers Funeral Home in Durand today from 2 to 4 and 6 to 8 p.m. A Masonic service will be held at 7:30 this evening.

Please join the family in a celebration of Bill's life on Thursday at the Perry Nazarene Church at 11 a.m.

Walter Judd

1969

Corunna grad receives botany awards as Term Professor, author

DR. WALTER JUDD

Walter Judd, a 1969 graduate of Corunna High School who is now a professor of botany at the University of Florida, recently received two prestigious awards.

Dr. Judd was named a College of Liberal Arts & Sciences (CLAS) Term Professor and received the International Association for Plant Taxonomy (IAPT) Adolf Engler Medal for his textbook, Plant Systematics — A Phylogenetic Approach.

Following his graduation from Corunna High, where he was co-valedictorian of his senior class, Judd earned bachelor's and master's degrees in botany at Michigan State University. In 1978, he was awarded his Ph.D. from Harvard University. Upon completion of his doctorate program, he taught for two years at Harvard before joining the University of Florida staff in 1980.

Dr. Judd and his wife, the former Beverly Gray of Owosso, have three children — Reuben, 19, Graham, 16, and Cherith, 13. Dr. Judd is the son of Herb and Joan Judd of Juddville and Okeechobee, Fla.

Prior to being honored as a University of Florida term professor, CLAS designated Dr. Judd its Teacher of the Year in 1997.

Dr. Judd's research focuses on the systematics and evolution of flowering plants. He has conducted fieldwork in the southeastern United States, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Jamaica, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Currently, he is involved in a taxonomic revision of Miconia sect, Chaenopleura in the West Indies and an investigation of the phylogeny of the Ericaceae sensu lato. He is also one of the organizers of the "Generic Flora of the Southeastern U.S." project, which involves the treatment of several families of petaloid monocots.

Dr. Judd teaches classes in plant taxonomy, tropical botany and biological systematics at the University of Florida.

Since 1995, CLAS term professorships have been awarded to outstanding faculty who excel in both scholarship and teaching. These professorships, funded entirely by private sources, allow the college to recognize faculty who are making a significant difference in the classroom as well as through their research. Each term professor receives a one-year supplement of $6,000 in salary and $2,500 in research support.

"The portfolios for the winners, and indeed for all the nominees, describe a level of creativity and dedication to teaching and research to which all faculty should aspire," said Dean Yost, former CLAS associate dean who oversaw the term professor nominations. "Collectively, they are the role models who are so important to the University of Florida and to CLAS. Their contributions are ... very much appreciated, and we look forward to their continued success."

The IAPT award received by Dr. Judd is given to the author(s) of the best book or scientific publication in the area of plant systematics for that particular year.

Dr. Judd co-authored Plant Systematics — A Phylogenetic Approach with professors from the University of Maine and the University of Missouri. They received the IAPT's Botany 2001 silver medal during ceremonies in Albuquerque, N.M.

Victor Kuchar

Col. Victor D. Kuchar, USAF (Ret.),
The Red, White and Blue Project, Inc.
Board of Directors member

Col. Victor D. Kuchar (Ret.) served America for 34 years on active duty with the Navy and later the Air Force.

Since the terrorist attacks of 9/11 and until his 2010 retirement, Col. Kuchar served as Chief of Field Operations and Deputy Chief of Staff for Intelligence, Surveillance and Reconnaissance at the Pentagon. On that fateful day, Col. Kuchar narrowly escaped death when a hijacked American Airlines jetliner slammed into the Pentagon, in a spot he'd vacated only minutes earlier.

During his 10 years at the Pentagon, Col. Kuchar traveled on more than 70 missions to Central Command and spent more than 2,000 days in theater providing mission essential hardware, software, data, training and data updates to more than 60 operational locations in 14 countries in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom in Afghanistan.

Injured twice as a result of enemy actions in Afghanistan, Col. Kuchar, who traveled "outside the wire" of the major bases on many occasions, was awarded two Bronze Star medals for meritorious action against an armed enemy of the United States.

During his distinguished career, Col. Kuchar has earned more than 20 decorations. At his retirement ceremony in Washington, D.C., Col. Kuchar was awarded one of the highest honors in the U.S. military, the Legion of Merit. The medal is one of only two U.S. Decorations to be worn around the neck. The other is the Medal of Honor.

Col. Kuchar holds an undergraduate degree (Cartographic Science) from Michigan State University and graduate degrees from The Ohio State University (Geodetic Science) and California State University (National Security Studies).

A man who does continuous charitable work in the U.S. and abroad, Col. Kuchar is a consultant with the United States Department of Defense. His travels still include missions into hostile regions.

At his retirement ceremony, Col. Kuchar said, "It's me who's honored, to be a guy from a small town (Corunna, Michigan) who had an opportunity to step forward and serve his country, as well as innocents around the world." He urged the audience to "thank veterans, past and present, at every opportunity for their service in keeping America safe and strong."

One of Col. Kuchar's favorite "homefront" stories took place at a social event at the Australian Embassy in Washington, D.C., a couple of years ago.

A man came up to him with an "Aussie" accent and said, "Hi Mate, I understand you were in the Pentagon on 9/11 and you'd just left the exact area the plane hit moments earlier. Please allow me to buy you a drink, Sir."

Admittedly not a big movie aficionado, the Colonel had no idea to whom he was speaking. The man, sensing this, handed him a single malt scotch and toasted, "I'm Russell Crowe, thank you for your service."

Note: Col. Kuchar's position as board member is unpaid. He volunteers his time as a community outreach ambassador to the company's mission and programs, and he acts as a liaison to active duty military, as well as veterans and veteran's organizations. He is a voting member of the board.

Corunna grad climbs ranks in U.S. Air Force

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Colonel Kuchar. It has a nice ring to it.

At the Pentagon during a full, formal military ceremony, and before family and friends, 1969 Corunna High School graduate Victor D. "Vic" Kuchar, was promoted to the rank of full colonel in the United States Air Force.

Born in Owosso and raised in Caledonia Township, Colonel Kuchar is the Deputy of Operations, Air Force Combat Support office, Headquarters U.S. Air Force, the Pentagon, Washington, D.C. As the deputy, he is responsible for devising and implementing comprehensive geospatial and imagery initiatives supporting deployed forces with a synchronized digital picture of the battlespace.

Kuchar, who is also a U.S. Navy veteran, was commissioned into the Air Force in 1978 following his graduation from Michigan State University's R.O.T.C. program. As a senior intelligence officer with the Combat Support Office, he has served on 17 deployments spanning nearly 300 days to Southwest Asia supporting theater operations since the 911 terrorist attacks on America.
